

proposed handbook description of Advisory Committee for Academic Advising

The Advisory Committee for Academic Advising (ACAA) shall consist of six regular members (one faculty member elected from each of the four academic areas, one student appointed by the Student Government Association, and one CNU employee appointed by the provost) and two ex officio members (the director of the Academic Advising Center and the Registrar, or designees from their offices). The committee:

1. cooperates with the Academic Advising Center in the improvement of academic advising;
2. recommends about matters related to the academic advising of students to the instructional faculty or the Provost as appropriate.