Poet Laureate of California

Dear students, faculty and staff,

On April 19, the Phi Beta Kappa faculty at CNU will welcome poet Dana Gioia for two special events.

At 11am he will lead a discussion on writing poetry in the Blechman Room of Tribble Library.

At 1:30pm he will deliver a lecture in Gaines Theater entitled "Why Beauty Matters---Not Just in Art but in Politics and Society."

Both events are free and open to the public. The lecture counts as an Honors campus intellectual activity as well as a PLP Passport event.

Dana Gioia is the Judge Widney Professor of Poetry and Public Culture at the University of Southern California. From 2001 to 2009 he served as chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts, where he brought enormous public attention to the importance of reading and arts participation. Gioia has published five full-length collections of poetry, as well as eight chapbooks. His poetry collection, Interrogations at Noon, won the 2002 American Book Award. An influential critic as well, Gioia's 1991 volume Can Poetry Matter?, which was a finalist for the National Book Critics Circle award, is credited with helping to revive the role of poetry in American public culture. In 2014 Gioia won the Aiken-Taylor Award for lifetime achievement in American poetry, and in 2015 he was appointed the State Poet Laureate of California by Governor Jerry Brown.

Join us for a thought-provoking discussion of Hidden struggles of living with elephants in Botswana on April 14 at 6:00 PM in Luter Hall, Room 121. This talk seeks to elucidate the hidden costs and challenges of living with elephants by engaging more fully with the complex reality of conservation on the ground in rural Botswana. Characterizing this struggle are competing notions of animal and human rights - around who is worth protecting, at what cost, and for what purpose. This is an Honors and PLP recognized event and free and open to the public.

AttachmentDigital Advocacy Fair

After a semester of hard work, students from ENGL 350: Writing for the Digital Humanities are ready to showcase their digital activism and advocacy projects! On Wednesday, April 20th, from 4:00pm to 5:00pm in the Luter Atrium, they will have individual stations set up where students, faculty, and staff from across the university can check out what they have been up to. Topics for projects include (just to name a few): mental health, animal welfare, veganism, disabilities, healthy living, voting, environmentalism, education, 3D-printing, canine therapy, open source, historical preservation, GMOs, beach preservation, orphanages, and much more! In order to advocate for these various causes, students have created social media pages with applications like Twitter, Facebook, and Pinterest, blog sites and webpages on wix, Wordpress, and more, a number of images, infographics, and memes, digital maps and timelines, and last but not least, online memorials. The event should be of interest to anyone curious about writing in digital environments, the digital humanities, online activism, new media, and beyond. Snacks will also be provided. Last year's event was a big success, so we hope to see you again this year!
