SECTION III

The Honor System

1. The Honor System

The reputation and credibility of an institution of higher education requires the commitment of every member of the community to uphold and to protect its academic and social integrity. As such, all members of the Christopher Newport University community uphold and enforce the following:

The Honor Code

"On my honor, I will maintain the highest standards of honesty, integrity and personal responsibility. This means I will not lie, cheat or steal, and as a member of this academic community, I am committed to creating an environment of respect and mutual trust."

Under the Honor Code of Christopher Newport University, it is expected that all members of the University community will demonstrate honesty and integrity in their conduct. Intentional acts of lying, cheating, or stealing are violations of the Code that can result in sanctioning.

Each member of the University community is responsible for upholding and enforcing the Honor Code. The Honor System cannot function unless each member of the University community takes action when he or she believes any person may have violated the Honor Code. Members of this University community are obligated to report violations to appropriate University personnel in order to ensure the efficacy of the system.

2. Student Regulations

Learning takes place through individual effort; achievement can be evaluated only on the basis of the work a student produces independently. A student who seeks credit for work, words and ideas that are not the products of the student's own effort is dishonest. Such behavior infringes on the Honor System and can result in academic and university sanctions ranging from a reduced grade on the assignment to dismissal from the University.

Misunderstanding of the Honor System will not be accepted as an excuse for dishonest work. If a student is in doubt on some point with respect to the student's work in a course, he/she should consult the instructor before submitting the work in question.

A violation of any principle is considered cheating and any resulting work dishonest.

a. Infractions

- 1) Lying is the expression of an untruth made with the intent to mislead another or with reckless disregard for the truth of the matter asserted. Lying includes, but is not limited to, forgery, the use of false identification, and the omission of truthful statements.
- 2) Cheating is the act of wrongfully using or taking the ideas or work of another in order to gain an unfair advantage. It includes, but is not limited to: (1) the act of plagiarism*; (2) the acts of

1 attempting to give or giving unauthorized aid to another student or attempting to receive or 2 receiving unauthorized aid from another person on quizzes, tests, assignments, or 3 examinations; (3) the acts of using or consulting unauthorized materials or using unauthorized
4 equipment or devices on tests, assignments, quizzes or examinations; (4) the act of using any 5 material portion of a paper or project to fulfill the requirements of more than one course unless 6 the student has received prior permission to do so; or (5) the acts of intentionally commencing 7 work or failing to terminate work on any examination, test, quiz, or assignment in violation of 8 the time constraints imposed.

- 9
- 10 3) Stealing is the intentional taking or appropriating of the property of another without consent or 11 permission and with the intent to keep or use the property without the owner's or the rightful 12 possessor's permission. Although the prohibition against stealing includes property of 13 whatever nature, it also covers theft of the academic work product of another.
- 14
- 15 4) Plagiarism occurs when a student, with intent to deceive or with reckless disregard for proper 16 scholarly procedures, presents any information, ideas or phrasing of another as if they were his 17 or her own and does not give appropriate credit to the original source.
- 18
- 19 5) Students are responsible for learning proper scholarly procedure. Proper scholarly procedures 20 require that, at a minimum, all quoted material be identified by quotation marks or indentation
21 on the page, and the source of information and ideas, if from another, must be identified and be
22 attributed to that source. While any amount of improperly attributed or unattributed material 23 may be sufficient to find plagiarism, a student may be presumed to have acted with intent to 24 deceive or with reckless disregard for proper scholarly procedures when a significant amount
25 of improperly attributed or unattributed material is presented as if it were the student's own
26 work. The faculty member is responsible for drawing a conclusion regarding whether the 27 amount of improperly attributed or unattributed material is so significant that intent may be 28 presumed. When a faculty member has sufficient reason to believe that a student was 29 intentionally deceptive in his/her work, an Honor Council will be convened to determine an 30 appropriate university response to the student's actions. The university response will be in 31 addition to the academic response determined by the faculty member.

32

33 b. Statement of Principles

34 1) Basic Policy

35 A student's name on any assignment is regarded as assurance that it is the result of the 36 student's own thought and study, stated in the student's own words, and produced without 37 assistance, except when quotation marks, references and footnotes acknowledge the use of 38 other sources. In particular, the use of purchased term papers or research for submission as 39 one's own work is expressly forbidden. Utilizing purchased work as one's own work will be 40 considered an indicator of the student's intent to deceive his/her faculty member. In some 41 instances, an instructor or department may authorize students to work jointly in solving
42 problems or completing projects, but such efforts must be indicated as joint work on the paper
43 submitted. Unless permission is obtained in advance from the instructors of the courses 44 involved, a student may not submit a single written work for completion of assignments in 45 more than one course. Students who perceive the possibility for an overlapping assignment in 46 courses should consult with the instructors involved before presuming that a single effort will 47 meet the requirements of both papers or projects.

48

2) Factual Work

In preparing papers or themes, a student often needs or is required to employ sources of information or opinion. All such sources used should be listed in the bibliography. It is not necessary reference specific facts that are common knowledge and obtain general agreement. However, facts, observations and opinions which are new discoveries or are debatable must be credited to the source with specific reference to edition and page even when the student restates the matter in his or her own words. Inclusion word-for-word of any part, even only a phrase or sentence, from the written or oral statement of someone else must be enclosed in quotation marks and the source cited. Paraphrasing or summarizing the contents of another's work is not dishonest if the source is clearly identified, but such work does not constitute independent work and may be rejected by the instructor.

3) Laboratory Work and Assignments

Notebooks, homework and reports of investigations or experiments must meet the same standard as all other written work. If any of the work is done jointly or if any part of the experiment or analysis is made by anyone other than the writer, acknowledgement of this fact must be made in the report submitted. It is dishonest for a student to falsify or invent data; doing so will be considered an intent to deceive the faculty member into accepting knowingly inaccurate work.

4) Imaginative Work

A piece of written work presented as the individual creation of the student is assumed to involve no assistance other than the incidental criticism from any other person. A student may not, with honesty, knowingly employ story material, wording or dialogue taken from published work, the Internet, motion pictures, radio, television, lecture or similar sources.

5) Quizzes and Tests

In writing examinations and quizzes the student is required to respond entirely on the basis of the student's own memory and capacity without any assistance whatsoever except as is specifically authorized by the instructor. It is not necessary under these circumstances to give source references appropriate to other written work unless required by the instructor.

6) Tampering with the Work of Others

Any student who intentionally tampers with the work of another student or a faculty member shall be subject to the same sanctions imposed for other violations of this Honor System. Such tampering includes, but is not limited to:

- a) contaminating the results of scientific experiments by interfering with the conduct of the experiments in any way;
- b) altering or in any way interfering with computer programs used by other students or faculty members in class preparation, simulation games, or otherwise;
- c) altering or attempting to alter any academic or other official records maintained by the University.

3. Academic Violations of the Honor Code

An academic violation of the Honor Code is a serious offense that impacts the university in the following two distinct ways:

- a. It is a direct offense to the faculty member and to the members of the class in which the violation occurred.
- b. It is an affront to the institutional values and purpose of Christopher Newport University's Community of Honor.

Therefore, both the faculty member and the university will review the incident and issue appropriate remedies.

As stewards of the academic experience of Christopher Newport University students, faculty members are obligated to resolve any suspicions of academic dishonesty. Generally, the process undertaken for resolving an alleged academic violation of the Honor Code will be as follows:

A faculty member who suspects that the Honor System has been violated is responsible for investigating the suspected violation in such a manner as to preserve the integrity of the Honor System and not unduly harm the reputation of the suspected violator.

The faculty member should inform the department chair of a suspected incident of academic dishonesty. The faculty member should attempt to confer personally with the student who is suspected of violating the Honor System and determine if the student has committed the violation intentionally and/or if the student admits to the violation. The faculty member may choose to contact the Director of the Center for Honor Enrichment & Community Standards to participate in a preliminary investigation.

Using his/her best judgment, the faculty member will draw a conclusion regarding whether or not the student's actions or his/her submitted work, or any portion thereof, constitute an academic violation of the Honor Code. In cases where the faculty member has sufficient reason to find a violation of the Honor Code has occurred, he/she will issue an appropriate academic remedy. Faculty members may use discretion in issuing academic remedies. Examples of academic remedies include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. The faculty member may assign an "F" for the course to the student with a notation to the confidential University file of that student that the "F" was for an academic violation of the Honor Code. This determination requires a letter of notification to the department chair and the Director of the Center for Honor Enrichment & Community Standards signed by the professor stating the reason for the assigned "F". This letter will be placed in the student's permanent file.
2. The faculty member may assign a grade of "F" to the student for the work in question, which would be averaged into the student's other grades should the professor determine the student is remorseful and the violation occurred with no intent to deceive the faculty member. A letter of notification indicating an academic violation of the Honor Code has occurred should be signed by the professor and sent to the department chair and the Director of the Center for Honor Enrichment & Community Standards for placement in the student's permanent file.
3. The faculty member may reduce the grade he/she would otherwise assign to the work in question. A letter of notification indicating an academic violation of the Honor Code has

1 occurred should be signed by the professor and sent to the department chair and the 2 Director of the Center for Honor Enrichment & Community Standards for placement in the 3 student's permanent file.

5 In a situation where the faculty member and student fail to meet regarding the incident or 6 fail to agree about whether there has been a violation of the Honor System, the faculty
7 member will, using his/her best judgment, determine if a violation has occurred and issue
8 appropriate academic remedies, if necessary. The faculty member will notify the Director
9 of the Center for Honor Enrichment & Community Standards, who will initiate a university
10 review of the incident to determine what university sanctions may apply.

11
12 Due to the serious nature of academic violations, faculty members will make every effort
13 to resolve any suspicions of academic dishonesty in a timely manner, typically within five 14 business days of discovery of the issue. Upon resolving the issue, faculty members will 15 typically issue the letter of notification to the Director of the Center for Honor Enrichment
16 & Community Standards within five business days.

18 Students and administrative personnel also bear responsibility for insuring the efficacy of 19 the Honor System and in supporting the academic environment of Christopher Newport
20 University. Students who suspect another student has violated the Honor System are 21 obligated to report this violation directly to the faculty member(s) of the course, the faculty
22 member(s) responsible for the activity, or to the Center for Honor Enrichment &
23 Community Standards, which will then notify the appropriate faculty member(s) of the 24 allegation(s). Administrative personnel are also obligated to notify the faculty member(s)
25 of the course, the faculty member(s) responsible for the activity, or the Center for Honor
26 Enrichment & Community Standards.

27
28 When there is a question about a student's honesty with regard to his/her academic work, it 29 is the student's responsibility to:

- 30
31 a) Meet with the faculty member to discuss the alleged violation 32 b) Provide accurate and truthful information regarding the scholarly work in question 33 c) Report the finding, in writing, to the Director of the Center for Honor Enrichment &
34 Community Standards within five business days of resolution
35 d) Pursue the grade appeal process, when appropriate, for resolution of the academic 36 remedy

37
38 When the Director of the Center for Honor Enrichment & Community Standards has been 39 notified of an academic violation of the Honor Code, it is the Director's responsibility to:

- 40
41 a) Initiate university review of the violation
42 b) Determine an appropriate University response to the violation
43 c) Notify the faculty member and the student if an Honor Council will be convened 44

45 In a situation where the faculty member has provided an academic remedy to a violation of 46 the Honor Code, an Honor Council may be convened under certain circumstances. These 47 circumstances include, but are not limited to, the following:
48

- 1 a) In the faculty member's judgment, the student's actions constitute "intent to deceive"
2 the faculty member into accepting work other than that which is the product of the 3 student
4 b) The student has been previously found responsible for an Honor Code violation
5 c) The Director of the Center for Honor Enrichment & Community Standards has 6 completed the university review of the incident and determined an Honor Council is 7 warranted

9 In any of these circumstances an Honor Council will determine suitable university
10 sanctions, to include the student's continued enrollment status, in addition to the academic 11 sanctions issued by the faculty member. In the event a student remains at the University
12 after having been found in violation of the Honor Code, the student may be required to 13 complete integrity education seminars in an effort to insure future Honor Code violations
14 do not occur.
15

16 For specific information regarding Honor Council procedures, please refer to the Student Handbook.
