Tournament Recap: 2018 University of Mary Washington Invitational

At the UMW Invitational this past weekend, the CNU Club Tennis team was victorious in winning the silver bracket of the tournament. On the first day of the tournament, the team was victorious over UMW's A team, but fell short to George Washington and George Mason's A team. As a result of the performances on the first day, the team was placed on the silver bracket for the second day of play. On the second day of the tournament, the team was victorious over UMW's B team, and then George Mason's B team in the semi-finals. The team then went on to defeat UMW's A team for the silver bracket championship. Our women's singles player for the tournament, Cristina Rowe, won all of her matches. Her results made her one of the very few players at the tournament to have a perfect record. Our men's singles player for the tournament, Oliver Lesjak, is the first male player and one of the youngest players in recent years to win a singles match at a tournament for CNU Club Tennis. He went on to win five of his six matches. The Captains will now prepare for the Section Championships, which will take place at Old Dominion University on November 3-4.
