

SLICE OF BUSINESS LIFE

Fall 2016

Toy Industry Association, Inc.

What Does Almost EVERY Type of Business Have in Common?

They all belong to a trade association. Associations represent and provide services to businesses and individuals, ranging from corporations like Pfizer, Google and Marriott to individuals like accountants, financial advisers, entertainers and athletes. Learn about the important role of business associations and the career options they provide.

Ed Desmond – Executive Vice President

Why should you attend?

- See how business leaders are dealing with real challenges and opportunities within their organization and industry
- Learn about business leaders' experience in their field
- Be exposed to a wide array of career paths you may not have considered
- Learn in a relaxed setting ... with pizza!

Tuesday, November 15, 12:15-1:30 p.m.
Luter 121

LUNCH PROVIDED