STUDENT BODY VOTES FOR SCHOOL COLORS

It is a pleasure to announce to the student body that the school colors, as decided by the final elections of March first and second, are Blue and Gray.

Two elections were held: the first was held on February 28 and the colors suggested by the first semester student body were voted upon; the second election was held on March first and second and the top three colors of the first election were voted upon. In the final election the votes were forty-seven for Blue and Gray, thirty-two for Green and White, and twenty-five for Blue and White, thus making Blue and Gray the colors of Christopher Newport. Before they do become the school colors however, the Board of Visitors will have to accept them, but this will be a mere formality. The newspaper staff would like to express their thanks to the students for their cooperation.

GERMAN CLUB TO HOLD FIRST DANCE

The first meeting of the newly formed German Club was held Monday, February the twenty-sixth. The meeting was at 7:30 p.m. in room 200 of the Christopher Newport College.

The German Club elected its first slate of officers. Tom Sellers was elected president; Allan Custer, vice-president; Bertol Gimm, secretary; Herb Stanley, treasurer; and Wayne Evans, sergeant-at-arms. The members feel that they have elected very capable officers.

The first activity of the German Club will be a dance on March 17th, from 9:00 to 12:00 p.m. Admission will be $1.25 per couple for members, and $1.50 per couple for non-members. All students of Christopher Newport College are invited. The officers of Saint Vincent Central High School and Warwick High School will be invited as special guests. The Invictas will provide the music.

WESLEY FOUNDATION ORGANIZED

The Wesley Foundation is the student organization of the Methodist Church on state related college and university campuses. Students of all denominations are invited to take part in the activities. During the time that a person spends in college, a number of things happen to him; 1. He becomes intellectually more sophisticated. 2. He enters into a world of new 'adult' social experiences and 3. He formulates through these, the creed by which he will live the rest of his life. The

ENGLISH PROFESSORS INTERVIEWED

Mr. Fay Kenyon Green did his undergraduate work at Kansas State University and Sterling College in Kansas graduating from the latter in 1932. He earned his M.A. degree at Northwestern University in 1937. From 1932 to 1940 he taught English and speech at high school and college levels. He was called to active duty with the United States Army as a Lieutenant in 1940. Mr. Green retired from the Army in August 1961 as a colonel, after 21 years of commissioned service.

While in the Army, Mr. Green served one year as Assistant PSMT at Temple University where he taught military science and coached the Temple Rifle Team. Also he taught advanced writing in the Far East (Korea) for the University of Maryland, and English 101 for the Extension Division, College of William and Mary. While in the Army he attended the Command and General Staff, Armed Forces Staff College, and the Industrial College of the Armed Forces. His last military assignment was at Fort Eustis, where he was Director of Doctrine and Literature in the U. S. Army Transportation School.

In college Mr. Green's principal extracurricular activities were in journalism, dramatics, and public speaking. He earned a Distinguished Award for debate and oratory in the Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary forensic fraternity. His principal avocational interest is the study of firearms.

When asked what he thought were the greatest problems that Freshmen English students have, he replied:

"The first problem in Freshman English is the lack of disciplined study habits and inattention to detail. Second, students depend primarily on instructors for interpretation of study material, and they shudder when required to offer definitive, original views. Finally, I think they lack intellectual motivation. Students want an education, but in general they have little intellectual interest. Many students go to college, not because they want knowledge, but because they want a degree."
