Effective May 16, 2011, but with the summer scheduled grandfathered in, these departmental changes are in effect and will be reflected in the 11-12 undergraduate and graduate catalogs.

Three academic departments are dissolved:

Biology, Chemistry and Environmental Science
Accounting, Economics, and Finance
Management and Marketing

Four academic departments simultaneously come into existence:

Economics (ECON, Dr. Vacchris, Chair)
Joseph W. Luter III School of Business (BUSN, Dr. Shaltayev, Chair)
Molecular Biology and Chemistry (MBCH, Dr. Webb, Chair)
Organismal and Environmental Biology (OENB, Chair to be soon elected and appointed)

There are no employment or curricular consequences of these changes. The reorganizations are administrative and designed (1) to facilitate faculty increases in the life and physical sciences upon the move-in to Forbes Hall and (2) to facilitate the reemergence of the BA in economics major and the external accreditation processes of the business program.

I thank the faculty and staff impacted by these changes for their input and and patience during the transitions.

I appreciate your attention to this information.

Mark Padilla, Provost
