Dr. Randall
Holcombe

Dr. Randall G. Holcombe discusses how American government has evolved from one based on the idea of preserving individual liberty to a government expected to further the will of the majority. Holcombe is DeVoe Moore Professor of Economics at Florida State University. He earned his PhD in economics from Virginia Tech, and previously taught at Texas A&M University and Auburn University. He is a senior fellow at the James Madison Institute. He served on Florida Governor Jeb Bush's Council of Economic Advisors from 2000-06, and is past president of the Public Choice Society and the Society for the Development of Austrian Economics. Holcombe is the author of 12 books, most recently, Entrepreneurship and Economic Progress, and more than 100 articles in academic and professional journals.

Friday, October 11
11 a.m.
