Dr. Kathy Reichs' first novel Déjà Dead catapulted her to fame when it became a New York Times bestseller and won the 1998 Ellis Award for Best First Novel. Reichs was also a producer of the hit Fox TV series, Bones, which is based on her work and novels.

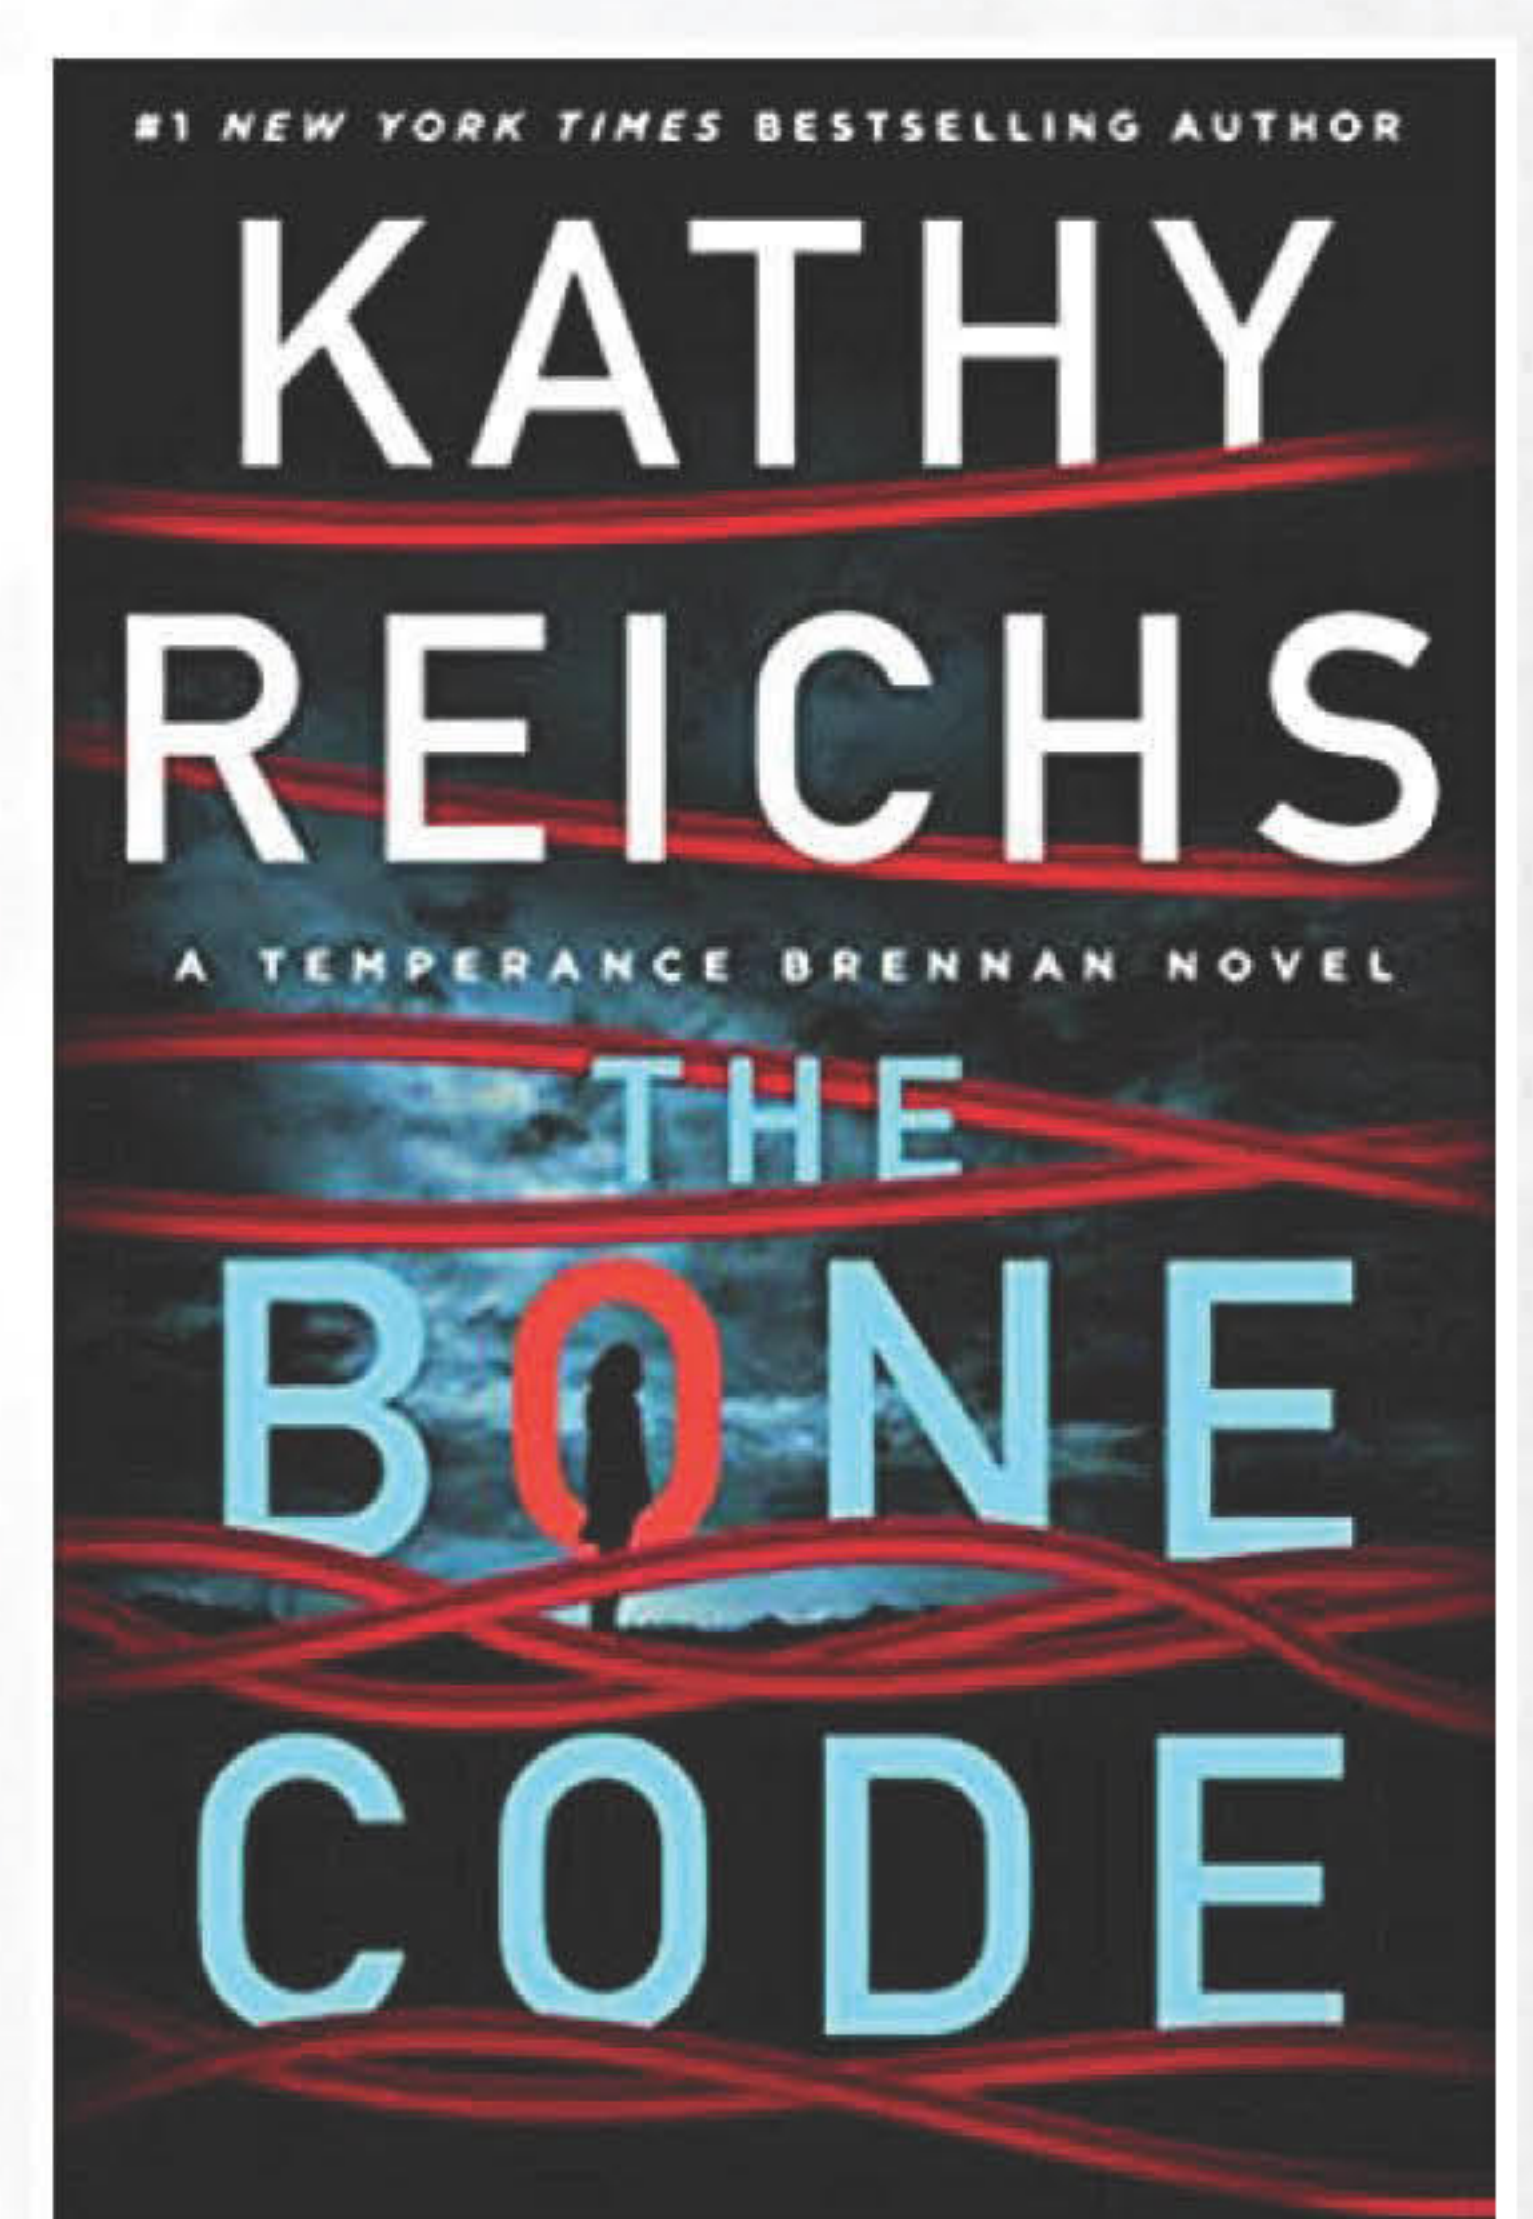

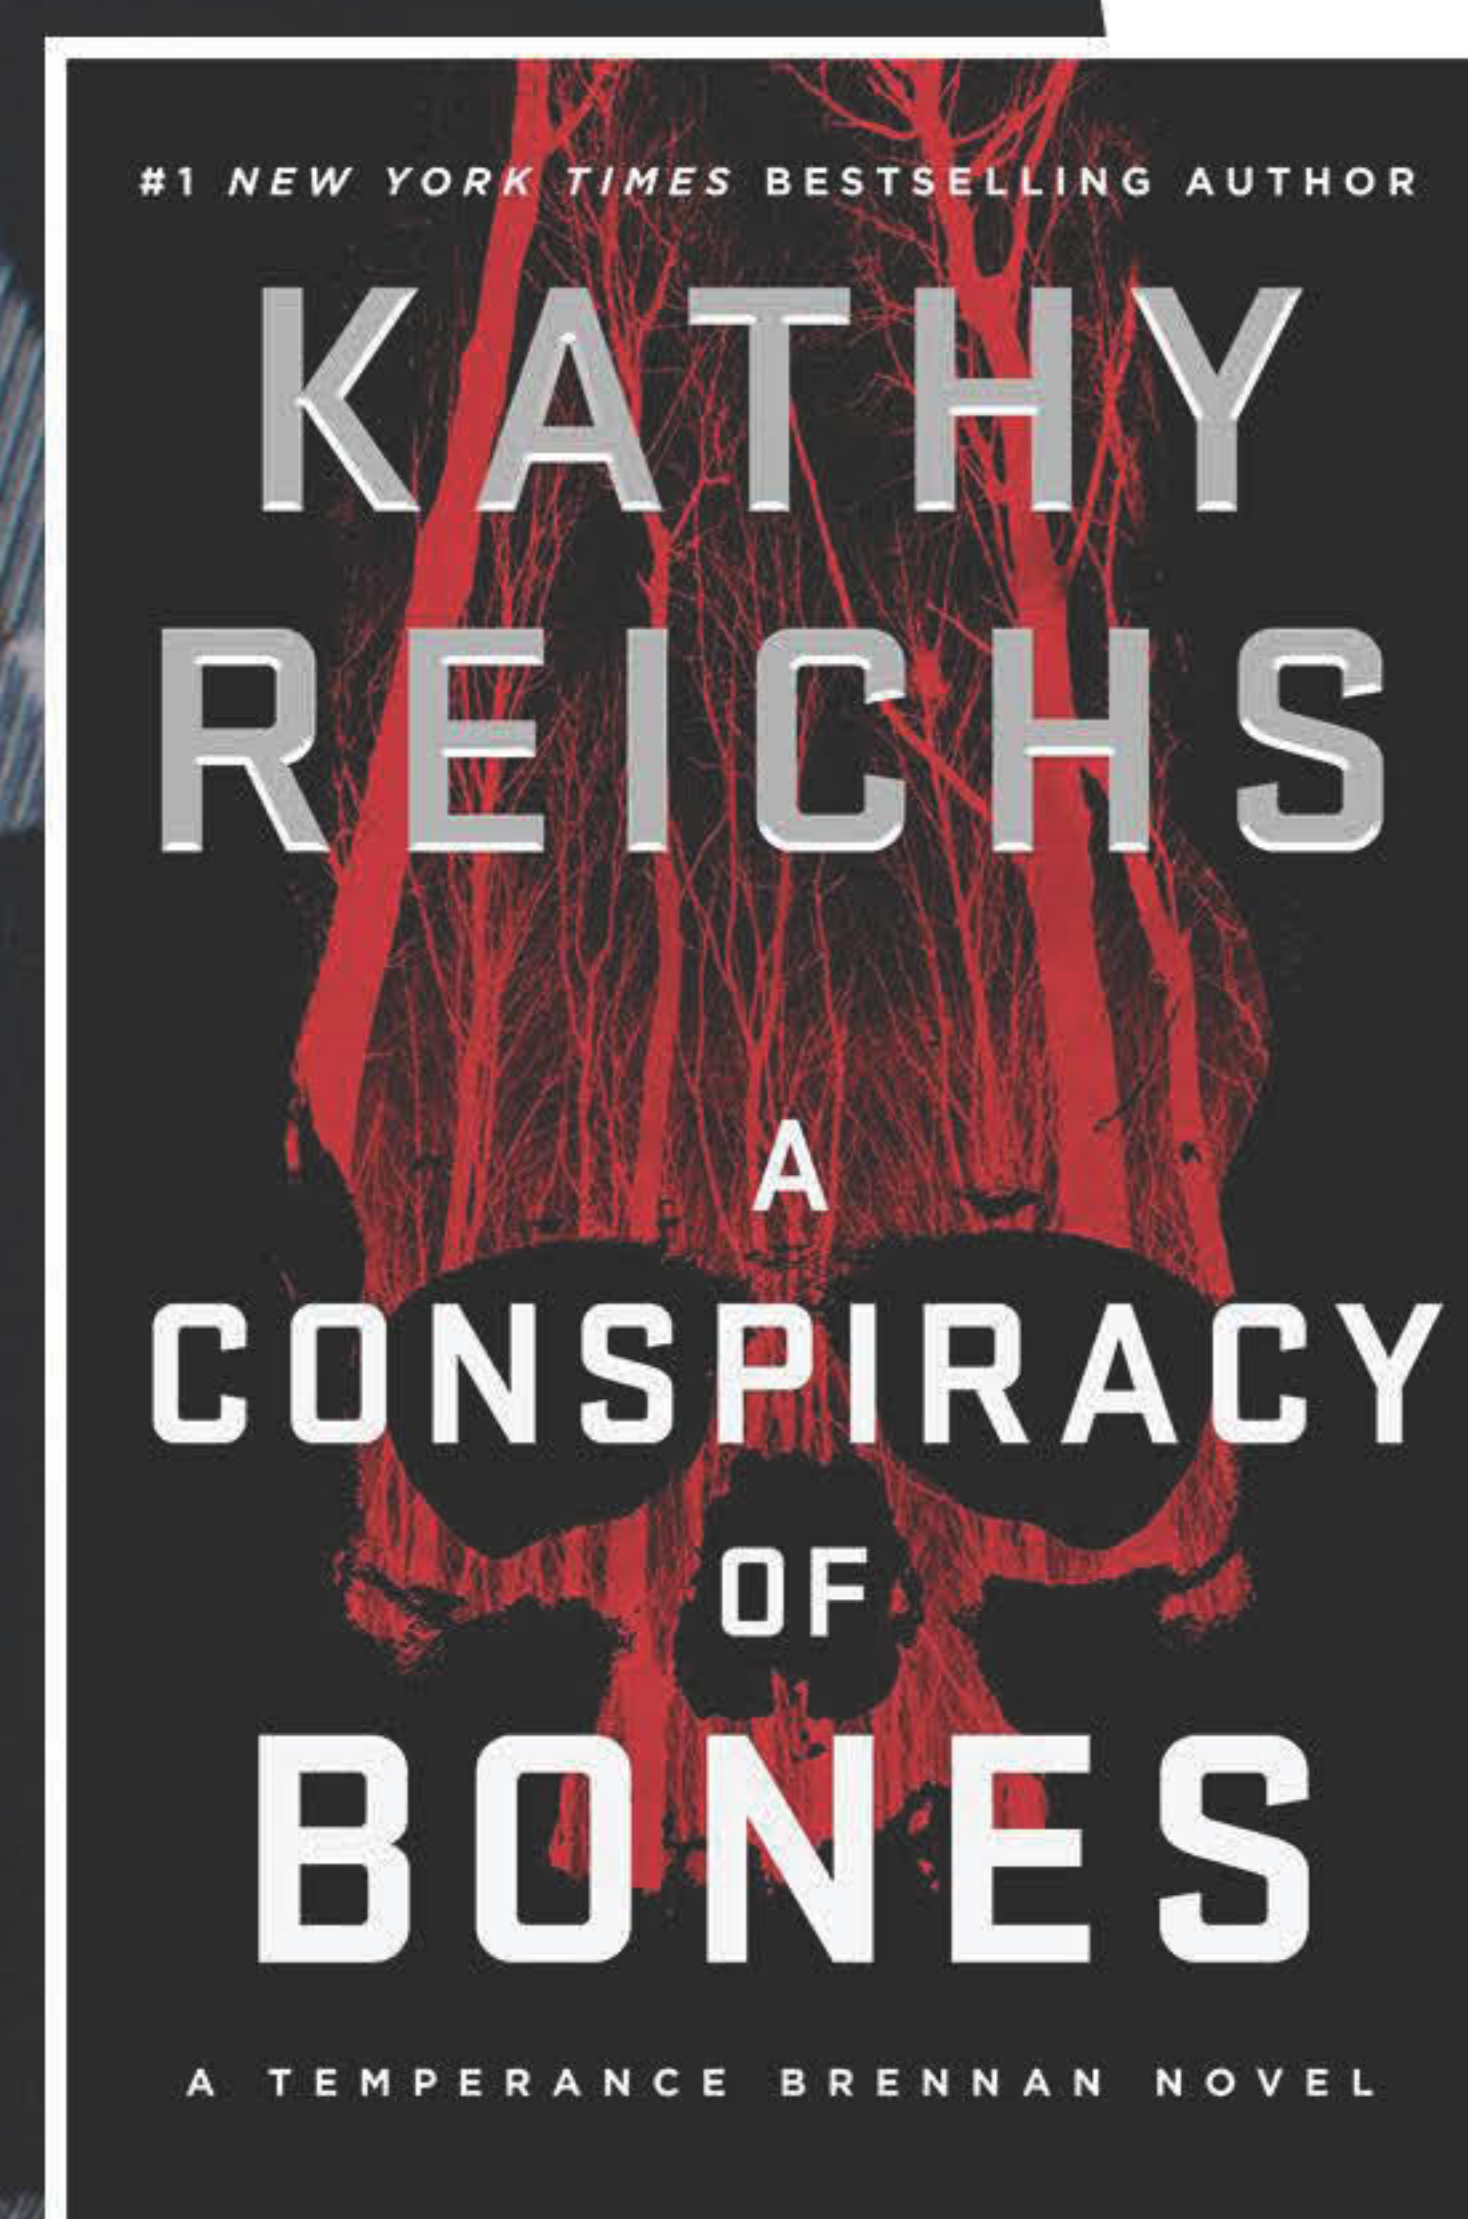

From teaching FBI agents how to detect and recover human remains, to separating and identifying commingled body parts in her Montreal lab, Reichs has brought her own dramatic work experience to her mesmerizing forensic thrillers. She is one of 80 forensic anthropologists currently certified by the American Board of Forensic Anthropology and is a professor in the Department of Anthropology at the University of North Carolina-Charlotte.

Reichs will engage in a live discussion with Dr. David Salomon, director of Undergraduate Research and Creative Activity.
