Campus Announcements: Daily Digest

Thursday, April 14

*This week is... National Volunteer Week! LinkToday's featured CNU Service Organization is: Be the Match

The way I look at BTM is similar to the "pay it forward" idea; we register CNU students who have the possibility of saving another person's life, giving them and their families a second chance to live their lives to the fullest. Be The Match On Campus is so much more than a student club because we meet and connect with so many people on our campus and beyond. I like to think of our organization, on the national level, as one big community striving for something so much greater than ourselves.

"I Don't Want To Shoot Them, But What Can I Do?": 6:00pm

Thursday, April 14th at 6:00pm in Luter Hall Room 121

Join us for a thought-provoking discussion of Hidden struggles of living with elephants in Botswana on April 14 at 6:00 PM in Luter Hall, Room 121. This talk seeks to elucidate the hidden costs and challenges of living with elephants by engaging more fully with the complex reality of conservation on the ground in rural Botswana. Characterizing this struggle are competing notions of animal and human rights - around who is worth protecting, at what cost, and for what purpose. This is an Honors and PLP recognized event and free and open to the public.

Delta Gamma's Dessert Derby: 6:00-9:00pm

Delta Gamma is so excited to host our second annual Dessert Derby! It will be held on Thursday, April 14th from 6-9PM in Freeman Room 201 and 202. This year we will have over 150 desserts for you to try - for only a $5 entry fee! Gluten-free, peanut-free, and healthy dessert options will also be available.

Tickets will be sold in the DSU walkway the week before the event and also at the door.

All proceeds from the event go to our beloved philanthropy, Service for Sight, which helps the blind and visually impaired. Come out on April 14th to enjoy desserts and support a great cause! Derby attire is recommended but not required.

CAB & Panhellenic Council Presents...Amber Krzys

Part of Panhellenic and CAB's Confidence Week! You can take a class to learn French. You can take a class to learn chemistry. You can take a class to learn yoga. But, you can't take a class to learn the language of your body. Your body is communicating with you twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. But, are you paying attention? What does that headache mean? Or that anxiety and overwhelming feeling you seem to always have? Why do you have to get sick to slow down and rest? In this keynote, Amber will teach you how to listen to what your body is saying. She believes your body is your best friend and can be your greatest ally in life. You will learn a specific skill set to foster this relationship so that you can stop constantly fighting, denying, and ignoring your body and start celebrating it as the gift it is meant to be.

Digital Advocacy Fair

After a semester of hard work, students from ENGL 350: Writing for the Digital Humanities are ready to showcase their digital activism and advocacy projects! On Wednesday, April 20th, from 4:00pm to 5:00pm in the Luter Atrium, they will have individual stations set up where students, faculty, and staff from across the university can check out what they have been up to. Topics for projects include (just to name a few): mental health, animal welfare, veganism, disabilities, healthy living, voting, environmentalism, education, 3D-printing, canine therapy, open source, historical preservation, GMOs, beach preservation, orphanages, and much more! In order to advocate for these various causes, students have created social media pages with applications like Twitter, Facebook, and Pinterest, blog sites and webpages on wix, Wordpress, and more, a number of images, infographics, and memes, digital maps and timelines, and last but not least, online memorials. The event should be of interest to anyone curious about writing in digital environments, the digital humanities, online activism, new media, and beyond. Snacks will also be provided. Last year's event was a big success, so we hope to see you again this year!
