It's that time of the year again!

On Saturday, February 14, 2015, Zeta Tau Alpha will be teaming up with CNU basketball for the Pink Out basketball game. Games will be played at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. in the Freeman Center Field House.

With this year's slogan, "Hoops for hope", Zeta Tau Alpha and fellow Captains plan to raise awareness and educate the community on breast cancer. This year we will be doing something extra special for our survivors in order to recognize their fight and encourage those who are still facing battles of their own.

We invite all to come out and support, and if you are a survivor or fighter (or plan on bringing friends and family and have a survivor or fighter) please contact Alissa Walsh, Zeta Tau Alpha's director of philanthropy, at alissa.walsh.12@cnu.edu by Thursday, February 12, 2015, for more information about the special recognition we have planned for you. Please wear your favorite shade of pink and come join us!
