"Stroll to the Polls III" Ticket Sale: 11:00am-2:00pm

"Stroll to the Polls" brings the vision of Alpha Phi Alpha's nation program "A Voteless People Is A Hopeless People" to CNU. It educates students on the importance of voting, allows individuals to vote on winners of the competition, and offers voter registration for upcoming elections. "Stroll" involves teams from CNU organizations competing in a dance ("stroll-off") competition and educational speakers.

Purchase your tickets this week in the David Student Union breezeway from 11-2PM.

Philosophy Cafe: 12:15pm

Our first Philosophy Cafe will take place on Thursday, Oct 29 in McMurrin 101 starting at 12:15. Dr. Kip Redick will present a talk titled

A Sensuous Encounter where Journey and Festival Meet

Festivals and pilgrimage offer participants a celebration of lived-bodies in communion with transcendent values. Along the Camino de Santiago in Spain, towns and villages enact festivals associated with their adopted saints. Pilgrims who happen to be in one of these festival locations join the celebration, which intensifies the communion of lived-bodies amongst pilgrims and erases the divide between indigenous people and those on spiritual journey. A similar happening has been occurring along the Appalachian Mountains in the Eastern United States. Though not associated with any particular religion, long distance hikers of the Appalachian Trail have spiritual journey experiences similar to more traditional pilgrims. Several "trail towns" along the Appalachian Trail have inaugurated festivals celebrating the trail. Hikers and town's folk experience a lived-body communion similar to what happens on the Camino. This talk explores the sensuousness of the spiritual journey as it happens on the trail and in the festival. Walking though Spain or along the Appalachian Mountains awakens the hiker's senses to embodied beings both human and extra human, affording a communion of shared encounter. Festivals along the way allow villagers to participate in the journey and hikers to express their newly discovered insights to those fellow celebrants.

2nd Annual Difference Makers CROP Hunger Walk

The 2nd Annual Difference Makers CROP Hunger Walk will take place on Saturday, October 31st from 11:00 am to 2:00 pm on our CNU campus. The Walk will begin in the Tribble Plaza and continue around the Great Lawn. There will be music & food and several members of our organization will speak about hunger and its effects. Walkers are encouraged to dress up...anything from tutus to awesome hats to full costume! Most importantly, we will walk to raise awareness of widespread hunger, which affects people around the world, even those in our own Newport News community. Look for Difference Makers at a table in the DSU this week! Hope to see you all on Saturday as we walk to END hunger, one step at a time.

Israel Trip

Spring Break Trip to Israel

There are still a few days left to register for the spring break trip, lasting about 10 days. Deposits are due October 30. Click this link to register: <http://cnu.abroadoffice.net/internal-program-description-Spring-Break-in-Israel-for-Religious-Studies--154590-119.html>

Students have to be enrolled in a class associated with the trip. There are five possible classes that are associated with the trip. Each of these classes can be used to fulfill an Area of Inquiry. The classes are: RSTD 361, Hebrew Bible, a Western Tradition; RSTD 232, Visions of Christianity, a Western Tradition; RSTD 321, Church and State, a Western Tradition; or RSTD 335, Primal Religions, a Global and Multicultural Perspectives course; and RSTD 395, Religion and Violence. If you decide to go, we will enroll you in the course of choice early. The program fee will be between $2800 and $3000, depending on how many students participate. It is 10 days, and the fee covers airline tickets, all hotels (which are some of the nicest in Israel), breakfast and dinner, as well as the bus all over the country.

Study Abroad Ireland and Scotland

Study Abroad Summer in Ireland and Scotland

There are still a few days left to register for the study abroad trip to Ireland and Scotland. Deposits are due October 30.

There is more information on the Study Abroad web site where students may fill out an application; go to this link: <http://cnu.abroadoffice.net/internal-program-description-Celtic-Christianity-a-Pilgrimage-through-Ireland-Scotland--154597-117.html>

The class will focus on Celtic Christianity and its unique form of monasticism. We will visit shrines through Ireland and then cross the sea to follow in the tracks of Irish monks as they brought the Gospel to what became known as Scotland. We will backpack on the West Highland Way, walking from Glasgow to Fort William. We will visit Iona and the Isle of Skye. The class will run from June 22 to July 29.

Appalachian Trail Class

There are still a few days left to register for the Appalachian Trail Class; May 2016. Deposits are due October 30.

There is more information on the Study Abroad web site where students may fill out an application; go to this link: <http://cnu.abroadoffice.net/internal-program-description-AT-Trail-157426-245.html>

Summer Class on the Appalachian Trail

Students will hike 50 miles of trail in Tennessee, cross the Virginia border and participate in the Trail Days festival in Damascus, walk up into the Grayson Highlands and camp among the wild ponies about a mile above sea level. Students will be conducting ethnographic research, interviewing thru-hikers who are walking from Georgia to Maine. The class will run from May 9 till May 24. The program fee is $350.

PFAC Day of the Dead and Halloween Celebration

The Peninsula Fine Arts Center will host its 3rd Annual Day of the Dead celebration on Halloween this year, exploring how cultures celebrate around the world.

The Day of the Dead and Halloween Celebration will be from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Oct. 31 at the art center. Admission is free. Young attendees are encouraged to wear costumes for a costume parade in the garden. Food will be available for purchase from El Dorado, offering flautas, taquitos and gorditas.

Dia de los Muertos, or the Day of the Dead, is a traditional Mexican celebration of family and friends who have passed away. Loved ones are remembered with ofrendas, or altars, constructed in their honor and decorated with photos, favorite foods and special mementos.

The day will begin with an exploration of the traditions of the Day of the Dead in Mexico. The community will be invited to help PFAC construct an ofrenda in memory of two important Mexican artists, Frida Kahlo and Diego Rivera. In addition, guests can decorate keepsake skulls made from air-dry clay and create tributes to their loved ones with sidewalk chalk.

Throughout the event, artist Cesar Carbajal will demonstrate the folk art tradition of popotillo, or straw painting. Carbajal, a Newport News resident who hails from Mexico, painstakingly shapes pieces of straw to create the effect of a painting. The straw is washed, dried in the sun and dyed with natural colors. Carbajal then warms beeswax, sourced from Campeche, with his hands and spreads it onto paper, using the beeswax to adhere the straw. Carbajal is the third generation member of his family to practice the art of popotillo.

From 12:30 to 1 p.m., dancer Ann Mazzocca will share a taste of the Day of the Dead as it is celebrated in Haiti. In Haitian Vodou culture, the divinity of Gede represents death, life, healing, humor and protection. Mazzocca will talk about Gede, teach some Haitian movements and perform a traditional dance. Mazzocca is a professor of dance at Christopher Newport University.

At 1 p.m., costumed attendees will be invited to show off their outfits and hunt for treats in our Halloween Costume Parade, to be held in the garden weather-permitting (otherwise, it will be held indoors).

Throughout the event and until 5 p.m., A Mile of Smiles will offer face painting for $3 for children and $5 for adults.

The Day of the Dead celebration coincides with the opening of PFAC's newest exhibition, "Virginia Made," exploring contemporary takes on traditional crafts. The exhibit features modern examples of woodworking, glasswork, quilting, pottery and metalwork.

The Peninsula Fine Arts Center is located at 101 Museum Drive within Mariners' Museum Park in Newport News, Va. The center is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 1 to 5 p.m. Sundays; PFAC is closed on Mondays. Admission is regularly $7.50 for adults, $4 for children (ages 6-12) and free for children 5 and under. Annual membership is $40 for individuals and $60 for families. For more information, call (757) 596-8175 or visit www.pfac-va.org.

November Rape Aggression Defense Class

Attention Captains!

Due to overwhelming demand, CNUPD has added another Rape Aggression Defense (RAD) class to the schedule in November!

Ask yourself?

Do you want to learn techniques to keep you safe, no matter what situation you find yourself in?

Have you ever wondered how you would fight off a person twice your size?

Have you ever thought "I will not become a victim!"

If so, then CNUPD would like you to invite you to participate in this unique, state of the art program. You will be taught techniques for self-defense, identifying potential attackers, and how to avoid dangerous situations in your daily life.

Classes are completely FREE and newest class is coming up fast:

November 4th, 11th, and 18th from 6pm – 10pm (Nov. 4th Freeman 101, Nov. 11th and 18th the DSU Washington Conference Room). This is a 12 hour course of instruction and if you decide that you want to attend this informative, fun class you must attend all of the sessions. For more information and to sign up for this FREE chance to empower yourself, or to schedule your very own class, contact CNUPD at 757-594-7053 or RAD@cnu.edu, and remember...

You are more powerful than you know!
