- b. Alpha Phi thank you for participating in King of Hearts
- c. Elections board is working hard
- d. Ashley Boyd- thanks to Bell, Wendling, Warner, and Buckley for attending the CNU Lobby day, sat in on appropriations for higher education, met with several delegates and representatives

Wendling –it was a great experience

Boyd- also sat in on session and announced that we were in the audience; heads up on chartering it is different, CNU is a level 2 institution, please read articles and look up bill online. Textbook market fairness act, and absentee ballot reform, and student fee information publicized.

- d. Secretary Eggenberger-Faculty senate clarification that work study students are not fired, they have their jobs, the money from the state has run out but the school is paying them from other funds. Stacey- will they be taking pay cuts? No they will not

Scheel where is the money coming from? The university has found money

Chandler are we going to run into these problems next year? Yes we are getting 11% less

Deeley- have you encountered any statistics about how the students are being affected? Please email Eggenberger with questions

VI. Committee Reports

- a. Parking services Committee- Parking services manager
 - Wendling can you explain the original plans for the parking garage?
 - Warner the new parking garage who will it suit? Right now they know that there will be spots for residents and patrons as well as employees-Follow up who is making the decisions- Administration
 - Eggenberger- the lot where the old art studios were why are we not allowed to use it? VDOT has taken that over for the widening of Warwick

Grace- why hasn't any thought gone in to visitors parking away if safety is such an issue. It has but there will always be problems. Grace- can there be perhaps visiting hours on weekends.

Ruud- the number you gave does that include parking garage?

McCue- 964 spaces open for commuters and residents

Can give exact numbers over email

-the lot behind on the run was for faculty and staff then the decision was made during the fall semester by administration that female students could park there, it is now open after 3pm like the rest of campus.

Lot I is for visitors for large events, during events like this residents can park in garage

Chandler- behind Potomac should be paved over the summer, what is the rationale about students paying $200 some believe they are getting less for their money. Right now it is weekends only, signs are up by Tuesday, what about students who do not live in Potomac

Layman- gravel lot by library, all students are allowed to park there

Deeley- why are commuters always last? When you pay it is to get a space on campus, the parking garage is campus.

Grace- tickets on main campus on weekends-if they were parked in any illegal parking slots, not faculty

Chandler- the appeals process even if you appeal it before the 24 hour you have to pay the full forty. The best way to get things done is to write letters, parking at CNU will be forwarded, BOV makes final decision for everything even ticket prices. Stacey- new parking deck, patrons that park in student spots will be ticketed.

Farooq-how much money do they make and where does that money go?

The state gives no money for parking, pays salaries, maintains garage etc.

The lot behind Potomac will be fixed during spring break

Deeley-why are freshmen allowed to bring cars?

Grace- can you hand out a copy of the rules when you sell tickets, it would cut down It should be done, currently there is a website but they will do their best to get something printed out.

Greene-question about why is money tickets different in dif parking areas.

Farooq- what is parking services trying to do to alleviate the problem? They will always point students in the direction of the parking garage.

Wendling- the parking garage is an extra walk however it is closer than most places at other universities, they are putting in loading zones in different areas

Deeley- do you know how the lots are allocated?

Wendling- it was in the Presidents vision that faculty park further than students

Ruud- parking garage

McCue- the money in general goes 100% back to parking

Scheel thank you to Mike Hott for answering question mhott@cnu.edu is the email address

b. Committee Reports-Retention committee this Friday 2-4 in Alumni Room
