The CNU Film Club will present its first Student Film Festival on Saturday, March 23, at 3 p.m. in Gaines Theater. The festival will feature a selection of short films made by CNU students. A Q&A session with the filmmakers and an award ceremony will follow. Tickets are $3 and will be sold at the door. A portion of the proceeds will benefit The Film Foundation and the historic Naro Expanded Cinema in Norfolk, Va.

The Film Foundation was established in 1990 by filmmaker Martin Scorsese, and is dedicated to protecting and preserving motion picture history by providing annual support for preservation and restoration projects at leading film archives. Its "1 Frame, 1 Dollar" campaign helps to restore one frame of film for every dollar donated. Naro Expanded Cinema's "Clarence Digital Cinema Campaign" will help fund the historic cinema's necessary expense of converting to digital equipment during 2013.
