

What is Classical Studies?

Classical Studies is the study of all aspects of Greco-Roman civilization – society, politics, military, geography, language – in the Mediterranean world for over 1500 years.

Why study Classical Studies?

To gain knowledge about the Greco-Roman foundations of western culture and intellectualism.

To be able to use knowledge of the ancient world to critically evaluate the modern world.

To gain the linguistic and socio-political background necessary for understanding the classical past and its impact upon the world of today.

CNU Undergraduate Catalog 2014-15

For More Information

Catherine Avino

President of Classics Club
catherine.avino.13@cnu.edu

Megan Wilson

President of Eta Sigma Phi megan.wilson.11@cnu.edu

Jana Adamitis

Department Chair
jadam@cnu.edu

Bradley Buszard

Faculty Advisor
bradley.buszard@cnu.edu

MCLL Department Office
MCM 305

Department of Modern and Classical Languages and Literatures

Classical Studies

Sponsored by Eta Sigma Phi and the Classics Club

Classical Studies Major

- CLST 101, 211, and 212;
- One LATN or GREK course (200-level or above);
- Seven additional courses (21 credits); at least four of which must be at the 300-level or above: Any course in CLST, GREK, LATN; COMM 249; GOVT 340, 357; HIST 301, 302, 312, 415; PHIL 201;
- CLST 490W.

Latin Minor

The Latin minor is not available to classical studies majors.

- Four LATN classes (200-level or above);
- Select two electives (6 credits):
 - LATN: any 300 level or above
 - CLST: any 200 level or above
 - GREK: any course
 - HIST 302 Roman History

Classical Studies Minor

- One LATN or GREK (200-level or above), or the equivalent;
- CLST 211 or HIST 301;
- CLST 212 or HIST 302;
- Select three electives (9 credits) from the following list: (courses used to fulfill requirements 1-3 listed above may not double-count as electives): Any CLST; COMM 249; FNAR 395 (only Greek and Roman Art); GOVT 357; GREK at the 200-level or above; HIST 301, 302, 312, or 415; LATN 202 and any 300 level course or above; PHIL 201 or 451.

Classics beyond CNU

Field/Job Opportunities

- Business
- Education
- Government
- Law
- Medicine
- Public History

Graduate School (M.A. and Ph.D.)

- Language/Literature
- Archaeology
- History

Classics at CNU

Eta Sigma Phi: Classics Honor Society

Classics Club:

- Thursdays at 7:30pm
- MCM 101

Study Abroad: Piety, Pagans, and Popes

- Summer 2015
- Two weeks in Rome
- Explores Roman culture and artifacts and the rise of the early Christian church